Twenty-seven Seniors Are Nominated For May Queen

17 Virginians; Arlington Leads List With 3; Annual Promenade Nov. 8

On October 25, twenty-seven members of the Senior class were honored by the student body when nominations were made for the 1952 May Queen. On Thursday, November 8, the candidates will appear before the school in the annual Promenade in their traditional white gowns. At this time the election of May Queen, which is sponsored by the Battlefield, will take place. Qualifications for the honor are beauty, poise, and stately carriage; popularity should not influence the selection in any way.

Of the 27 candidates, eight are blondes, ten are brunettes, seven are brownettes, and two are red-heads. Ten are out-of-state girls, while Arlington leads the state girls with three on the list; Richmond, Alexandria, and Lynchburg have two. All but three of the girls have attended MWC for their first three college years. The nominees are as follows: Virginians—

—Sue Webb, Fort Defiance; Edwina Moss and Mary Wallace, Alexandria; Peggy Burton, Mary Ribble, and Nora Lee Hulme, Arlington; Sue Walton and Norma Henley, Richmond; Felda Wagner and Ruth Underwood, Lynchburg; Maryanne Heatwole, Weyens Cave; Ann McClenny, Franklin; Phoebe Wilson, Strasburg; Nancy Moxley, Elk Creek; Betty Montgomery, Fine Creek Mills; Betsy Peterson, Lawrenceville; Mary Elaine Foster, Front Royal. Out-of-staters—Virginia Orkney, Laurel, Mississippi; Peggy Sherman, Augusta, Georgia; Tina Lamprikos, Asheville, North Carolina; Carol King, Baltimore, Maryland; Claire Sindlinger, Holmdel, New Jersey; Eleanor Dickson, Bogota, New Jersey; Nancy Horan, South Dartmouth, Massachusetts; Prs Roberts, Hartford, Connecticut; Marie Attianese, Bridgeport, Connecticut; June Tierbach, New Rochelle, New York.

Five of the candidates have been class representatives to the May Court in previous years—Nancy Horan and Prs Roberts for two years; Marie Attianese, Peggy Sherman, and Sue Webb for one year. Nine of the girls were club representatives to the Junior Class Beauty Contest last year—they are as follows: Prs Roberts, Nancy Horan, June Tierbach, Eleanor Dickson, Maryanne Heatwole, Ann McClenny, Mary Ribble, and Edwina Moss. The first three of the above were finalists in the order named.

Dr. Black Addresses YWCA Church Service

Doctor Zoe Black was the speaker at the interdenominational church service held on Sunday, October 27, at 7:30 P.M. in Monroe Auditorium.

Dr. Black, Associate Professor of Biology at Mary Washington, spoke on the topic: "A Scientist Looks at Religion."

This service, sponsored by the Y.W.C.A., was the first of those to be presented throughout the year for M.W.C. girls of all faiths.

MWC Band Plays At Oyster Bowl Game In Norfolk

The band with its high stepping twirlers and snappy drum major-ette received a hearty welcome in Norfolk at the 5th Annual Oyster Bowl Game and parade on October 20th. According to one newspaper's account of the occasion, the M.W.C. band gave the V.P.I. cadets their best chance to cheer during the afternoon. The band was met by the Norfolk chapter of the M.W.C. Alumnae Association. Some of the girls stayed after the football game for the dance given in honor of V.P.I. and Duke. Along with other autographs, the bass drum now sports those of Miss America of 1951 and Miss Virginia who participated in the Oyster Bowl Festivities.

The band also attended the "Home Coming" at the University of Richmond on Saturday, October 28. Between halves, they did a fancy routine to the tunes of "If You Were the Only Girl in the World" and "Let Me Call You Sweetheart." After the game, the band members were the guests of the University of Richmond Band for a supper and dance.

On November 17 the band will be in the Christmas Parade in Richmond.

Under the direction of Mr. Faulkner this organization has enjoyed many successful seasons. Some of the prizes they have won are 1st prize in the Washington Safety Parade for the past three years, 2nd prize in the Petersburg Christmas parade in 1950, the prize for the best dressed band at the Bing Crosby Day in 1950, and 2nd prize in their section in the Tobacco Festival on October 12 of this year.

IRC to Hold Parcel Post Sale Here

The International Relations Club of Mary Washington College will have a parcel post sale on October 30. The sale will take place outside of the College Shoppe. The packages, will sell for 25c each, containing values up to one dollar and fifty cents. All the articles are useful ones.

Proceeds of the sale will be used to send representatives of the International Relations Club to conventions which the club feels will be beneficial to the school as well as to the club.

Second Lyceum To Present Kathryn and Paul Schwartz

The second Lyceum program of the 1951-'52 season at Mary Washington will present the duo-pianists Kathryn and Paul Schwartz on Monday night, November 5.

Komic Karnival Great Success

R. A. declared its Komic Karnival, held Saturday night at 8 P.M. on campus, a pleasing success with a large crowd present for the festivities.

Monroe gym was decorated as a spook house with all the Halloween attractions of ghosts and witches, circus clowns, side shows, and concessions contributed to the general theme of the activities.

The Recreation Association found the real success of the evening to be the night club. Soft drinks, cider and hot dogs were served and serenaders were present to create an appropriate atmosphere.

Surprises such as floor shows, fortune tellers and cake walks were all in order. Concessions of several varieties, offering prizes, added spice and enjoyment to the evening.

The faculty cooperated in a variety of ways, some acted as barkers; others found their talents leaned more to the chorus line entertainment. Mr. Schnellock's character sketches were quite popular.

Nat'l Symphony Presents Program In First Lyceum

The National Symphony Orchestra, on October 24, entertained a large representation from the student body and many faculty members and townspeople. This year, for the first time, Mary Washington students are seated in the middle section of George Washington provided they are attired in formal clothes.

The program consisted of Beethoven's "Lenore Overture No. 3, Opus 72, "Suite" from "The Faithful Shepherd" composed by Handel and arranged by Beecham, "The Sorcerer's Apprentice by Dukas and Tchaikovsky's "Symphony No. 4 in F Minor." As an encore the National Symphony Orchestra played the "March" from "Love of Three Oranges" by Prokofiev.

Paul Schwartz was born and educated in Vienna, Austria. He studied piano, composition and conducting at the Vienna Music Academy and later received his Ph.D. in Musicology from Vienna University. A composer as well as a performer, his orchestral, chamber and vocal works have been presented in concert and over the radio in many cities.

He was the recipient of the Richard Oppenheim Memorial Award for Ohio composers for 1950. From 1938 to 1947, Dr. Schwartz was chairman of the Music Faculty at Bard College (New York). For the past three years he has served as Director of Music at Kenyon College (Ohio) and as Lecturer in Church Music at Bexley Hall, the Divinity School of Kenyon College. Under his direction the Kenyon College Choir and the Kenyon Singers have presented concerts in all major cities in Ohio.

Kathryn Schwartz is a native of Asheville, North Carolina. She studied piano at Black Mountain College (North Carolina) and Bard College (New York) and received her A.B. degree from Bard College. She has taken graduate work in Philosophy at New York University and in English Literature at the Kenyon School of English.

The program will consist of "Sonata in D Major" by Mozart; "Allegro brillante, Op. 92," Mendelssohn; "Andante and Variations for two pianos, Op. 46," Schumann; "En blanc et noir, No. 1," Debussy; "Scherzo" from "Les Songes," Milhaud; "Requiem," Casadevall; Berkowitz; Contrapuntal paraphrase on Weber's "Invitation to the Dance," Godowsky; two Serbian Dances by Hans Gal; and Three Dances for piano duet by Paul Schwartz.

First Secretary of French Embassy to Speak At Convoc.

M. Henri Ruffin, first secretary of the French Embassy, will speak to the student body at Convocation on Wednesday, October 31 at 7:00 on a topic of wide interest, "European Unity." Mr. Ruffin will be representing M. Henri Bonnet, the French Ambassador to the United States.

M. Ruffin and his wife will be guests of the French Club and the French Department Wednesday night at dinner.

Brent Hall will honor M. and Mme. Ruffin by holding "Open House" from 4:30 to 5:30 on Wednesday afternoon for all the members of the French Club, the French Department, and the residents of Brent Hall. This occasion will also mark the formal opening of La Maison Francaise.

Library Receives Indian Relics

Judge Alvin T. Embrey of Fredericksburg has presented E. Lee Trinkle Library at Mary Washington with a large wool spinning wheel and various other Indian artifacts found by him on his farm located on the Rappahannock River. The gifts include a two-bitted tomahawk, hoe point, axe, pipe, knife and several game arrow-heads.

Campus Clippings

Before I begin these clever little anecdotes, I'd like to explain that my job is managing (????) this newspaper, not writing for it! But it so happens that one of my meager tasks is arranging the priceless articles in order to eliminate as many as possible of the scintillating little items known as "fillers." This is especially difficult when the sum of the parts does not equal the whole (ugh, what a sentence!) Anyway, getting on with my apology, I finally reached the conclusion that the sure way of having enough material was to write it myself. If this happens to come to an abrupt end, please understand that it fulfilled its requirement and will reappear again when needed. Actually, though, some of this gossip which I picked up at the recent A. C. P. Convention and from various other sources, may prove interesting—Why don'tcha just glance thru it, hummm?

UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND

Students working part time for the University of Maryland received a 15 cent increase in their wage scale this fall, making 90 cents per hour the maximum payment for University work. Minimum payment is 65 cents an hour.

FURMAN UNIVERSITY

Upperclassmen at Furman University, S. C., have handed their freshmen (known as "Rats") a few rules for survival. They include: Rats are to tip their caps to all upperclassmen. A copy of the student handbook must be in the rooms of rats at all times. A Confederate flag will be raised on campus each morning by specified freshmen. Rats passing the flag will remove their caps at a distance of five paces from the flag and "maintain this state of reverence" for five paces beyond the flag.

YALE UNIVERSITY

Since so many college men spend both time and money on weekends at women's colleges, a group of Yale students have now compiled a handbook to help the young man when he dates a college girl.

The book is called "Going Places" and is a guide to 20 Eastern women's colleges. There is a map of each campus, important telephone numbers, details about curfew, as well as a critique of nearby restaurants and night clubs.

Of the 20 colleges outlined, 19 are real schools, the twentieth is mythological. The editors have created a non-existent woman's college located on a non-existent hill in New Hampshire. Life there is easy and the regulations lax, and the editors are hoping that the 19 other colleges may follow suit.

BOSTON UNIVERSITY

Dr. Edgar S. Brightman, head of the department of philosophy at Boston University, recently praised the calm determination of today's college men and women. Students tend to take the long view, he believes. They sensibly see today's crises as important, but also know that men have always been faced with problems. He believes that today's students have far less "war psychoses" than had the students during the last two wars. "Compared to the students of my day, for instance," the noted scholar said, "the present generation of students is more informed and social-minded. Students have far more concern with international matters. They attempt to apply their ideals to the solutions of problems."

UNIVERSITY OF NEW MEXICO

The following poem appeared originally in the Daily Lobo, University of New Mexico:

He asked me: "When?"—
I could not tell.
He queried: "Who?"
Again I fell.
He named a man
To me a stranger.
And I could see
Myself in danger.
What was this plight—this mystery?
Oh! Just my course in history.

CLARKSON COLLEGE OF TECHNOLOGY

The Faculty Committee on Final Examinations at Clarkson College of Technology, headed by Dean Lowell W. Herrom, has recommended that one uniform examination be given for each course, the number of examinations be reduced, and all examinations be based on judgment and intelligence, rather than factual knowledge.

SWEET BRIAR

Seventy-four men and women from 32 American colleges and universities recently sailed for France to participate in the 1951-1952 Junior Year in France, now in its fourth year under the administration of Sweet Briar College. Yale University, with eight students enrolled, has the largest representation. Cornell and Mount Holyoke each have six; Radcliffe, five; Princeton, Middlebury and Wellesley, four each; Bryn Mawr and Sweet Briar, three each.

During the preliminary period of intensive language study, the group of 22 men and 52 women will live in the provincial city of Tours, in the heart of the chateau country, going from there to enroll in the University of Paris late in October.

One more poem:

Breathes there a man with soul so dead,
Who never to himself hath said:
To heck with the newspaper—
I'm goin' to bed!

—Patsy Saunders

KOLLUM

A casual observer, on being present at a convocation at Mary Washington College, would be thrilled at the remarkable show of spirit exhibited before the evening's program. He would think surely that nowhere can there be found twelve hundred better pairs of lungs and clearer-ringing voices. But what a disillusionment is in store for this observer!

A girl comes out on the stage to test the microphone and a courteous silence prevails as she says, "Testing, one, two." This mild attentiveness continues while the speaker is introduced. No doubt said speaker is favorably impressed by the evident show of interest on the part of the student body for the ensuing proceedings.

The speaker begins and, before long, the auditorium is filled with the sound of tubercular coughs punctuated by the clicking of knitting needles. Perhaps, the guest has been so carried away by his own thoughts that he has not noticed the audience very carefully. Now, with this distracting noise, he takes a second look and probably wonders why a great protest has not been raised for instead of the alive-looking, knowledge-seeking girls he expected to see, there, before him are rows of slouching, sleeping individuals. He marvels that this segment of the audience is able to appear to be resting so easily in such a din.

His eyes travel from the back of the auditorium down to the rows immediately in front of him and he is surprised to find that the first few rows of students are very erect and alert. Wonder of wonders! Someone is listening to him. Little does he know that these girls are victims of circumstances. Simply because their names are first in the alphabet, the other girls have fitted these with ramrods down their backs so that they will have to sit up straight and, thereby, conceal their more fortunate sisters whose seats are farther back. Had it not been for the distracting atmosphere, the speaker would probably never have really noticed the first few rows of seats because it is more natural to look toward the back of a room while speaking. Now, however, he concentrates on them because they seem to be the only listeners at his command. The rest of the girls might as well be absent as far as he is concerned; perhaps they are counted so, too, but he doesn't know that knitting and sleeping in Convo. result in being hanged in effigy and marked absent and so he marvels at the rows of dumplings and automatons placed (not seated) before him. Doubtless, he thinks that it is a new procedure designed to make guest speakers feel that they have a large audience.

Suddenly, this new conclusion he has arrived at is shattered by uproarious laughter from every member of the audience. Now, our speaker knows that the theory on government that he has just put forth is not funny and he wonders at the sense of humor of these "young ladies." Enlightenment comes when he views a furry, white ball wriggling and scrambling out of the organ pit. It's "Ragmop!" Someone dropped a ball of yarn and he was chasing it down the aisle, skidded and landed beneath the organ. After the five minutes allotted to laughter, the speaker decides that the only way to capture the attention of the audience is to stop speaking. He does and receives an ovation fitting for a king. Still, he doesn't know whether to be flattered or indignant. Are they applauding his speech or because it is over? All his life, the speaker will be haunted by this question. At any rate, he is gratified to see that the recent excitement has served to awaken everybody because he feared that sleeping in such cramped positions would impede the growth of these individuals, who are evidently so desirous of obtaining a broad education.

Movies Hit MWC Campus

Talking today with the tall, rugged, pioneer-gripped Cavalry star who wears the distinctive red-mark shine of an injured eye, I became informally introduced to another phrase of activity here at Mary Washington—an impressive singular army of bugle-blowing runners upon fine steeds, headed by an impressive individual, Miss Shirley Sinnard, who may as easily place her voice in a low musical drawl as pitch it to shout out commands on the riding field.

This school has been touched by the unique hand of honor. Inside of a few days students will be able to pay an admission fee in any advanced cinema in order to witness the entire M. W. C. Cavalry leaping, galloping, and checking rein on film. You will see what you may watch every day at the stables, but this time on the screen. It happened like this:

20th Century Fox, prominent and illustrious pioneer of movie industry, authorized Mr. M. D. Cooke to take pictures of "Cavalry in Action". In a very short time, the stage was set. Shirley met with Mr. Walther, riding-instructor, and Mr. Brooks, public relations director, and planned on Monday what pictures should be taken and the locality for each shot. Tuesday, the camera-machines ground out informal pictures of the stables with the girls in the process of cleaning, feeding, saddling, etc. Then they pressed the action—dial-cycle, and girls were filmed as they galloped through the woods and on trails, up and down hills with their hair flying in the wind and their eyes fixed and steady. The next pose was a group jumping the fence together, and formation drilling (riding single-file, with devious other methods) commenced. Then the Cavalry met with the Band and performed equestrianics in front of Ball Hall. The girls next ate their lunch, then rushed back again to the stable. Where they rode through large fields and galloped through red and purple smoke screens. And so when the camera clicked 'stop' for the day, it was a tired but wonder-filled group which trudged up the hill for their last meal.

The next day, Wednesday, the horses were brought on campus. The girls mounted and dismounted in Ball Circle with 18 horses. Mounted, they proceeded to form a circle in front of Ball, then advanced by fours past G. W. and out of the gates and down town where they directed traffic at James Monroe High School. Non-riders joined the riders there.

In a few days this newsreel will all be shown in theatres and on T. V. Perhaps the story of Cavalry will appear in a magazine pictorially as Mr. Phil Flourney, a photographer from the Virginia Chamber of Commerce, took many still pictures Tuesday. This has done much to promote the environment of horse-stables and riding. The interest of the girls, already members, has been stimulated; and the former veterans of the horse-

Music Score From "A Streetcar Named Desire"

A single listening to the "Streetcar Named Desire" music score reveals the content of this intense motion picture: savage exposure of raw emotions, loneliness, the desire to love and be loved, the wickedness, misunderstanding and cruelty of man.

Composed by Alex North, the score is one of the first in motion pictures to utilize principally the jazz idiom. Reflecting the story's setting, the Old Quarter of New Orleans, the music is marked by recurrent themes of small jazz groups. North creates vivid portraits of mood, characters and theme. He captures the quality of haunted innocence in the fading dreams of Blanche duBois (Vivien Leigh) who lived in illusion rather than face her true self. Stanley Kowalski (Marlon Brando) represents the harsh force of reality. North's music excites the suggestion of impending violence in the character.

The musical plan behind "Streetcar's" composition was to avoid entirely the step by step approach (known as "Mickey Mouse" in the trade) of conventional motion picture backgrounds, and play directly against the screen action as a means of heightening dramatic effects.

A newcomer to Hollywood, Alex North has previously written for modern ballet, choral, orchestral and chamber music groups. He is a Guggenheim Fellowship winner and has studied at Juilliard and with Ernst Toch and Aaron Copland. North also wrote the incidental music for the stage version of "A Streetcar Named Desire." A specialist in "problem assignments," North is presently scoring the film, "Death of a Salesman."

lovers club have found their interest renewed. Cavalry worked together as a team. It was all one body of a fighting unit joined together by mutual interest and the hope of a perfect take. I quote now the words of Major Shirley Sinnard to the members of Cavalry—"I would like to express my sincere gratitude for the manner in which every single member of Cavalry did her part in making the picture a success."

And it was a definite success—as far as spirit, cooperation and completeness go.

Flattery beguiled the most innocent of females during these last few days. "Pop" Faulkner raced his Band with Walther's army to see which could look the prettiest and smile the sweetest. Girls brushed their hair a million ways and wore mascara twice. Lipstick with mirrors paraded the campus until it looked as though Hollywood was here to stay. Nevertheless, we here of the non-riding unit are extremely proud of Shirley, her Cavalry, and the excellent way in which the whole set-up was performed. It will be a privilege to see the movie. And it will be honors such as these which make our school the school it is.

CLUB ACTIVITIES

Home Ec. Club

At the Home Economics Club meeting, October 21, the new officers for the 1951-52 year were announced: president, Dorothy Davis; vice-president, Rita Brahs; secretary, Betsy Dickson; treasurer, Lynn Gessford; historian, Beverly Back.

Activities for the coming year were discussed. The club wishes to announce that it will be happy to cater for any occasion that arises. If anyone is interested, please contact Ruth Brice, Marye 3.

Members are now preparing for the Home Economics Club Bazaar, which will take place in November.

Betsy Dickson and Rita Brahs of the Home Economics Club left October 24 for a Home Economics Workshop at Jackson's Mills, West Virginia. This is a 4-H State Camp. The workshop was from October 25 to October 27.

Pi Gamma Mu

The Virginia Zeta Chapter of Pi Gamma Mu, National Social Science Fraternity, tapped seven new members at a breakfast meeting Wednesday morning, October 24. They are Elfreda Louisa Beck, Barbara Jane Naller, Evelyn Roeder, Elizabeth Weatherford, Marjorie Gibson, Helen Bagley Schroder, and Virginia Wallace.

These members have been selected on the basis of high scholastic standing in the fields of history, economics, political science, and sociology. To be eligible for membership in Pi Gamma Mu, a student must have at least a "B" average in 20 hours of social science studies and no failures.

Officers of The Virginia Zeta Chapter are as follows: Mary Ribble, president; Kay Showker, vice-president; Ann Orwiler, secretary; Kitty Earnshaw, treasurer; Emily Adams, reporter; Serena Genovese, historian; and Mr. Allen, chaplain.

History Club

The History Club of Mary Washington College held its first meeting of the year on Tuesday, October 23. The new president, Jackie Bobbin, presided over the meeting. Tentative plans were made for tours of neighboring cities and historic places in and near Fredericksburg; these college bus trips will be sponsored by the club.

Miss Evelyn Roeder gave a very interesting talk on her recent trip to Germany. She was there approximately three months, spending most of her time in Berlin and touring various other places throughout the country.

Alpha Phi Sigma

Alpha Phi Sigma took great pleasure in welcoming 39 students into its membership on October 23. The formal initiation was held in the Tapestry Room and was followed by a reception for old and new members. The room was decorated in green and white, the fraternity's colors, and the punch was served by Dr. Eileen K. Dodd, the co-sponsor.

Alpha Phi Sigma is one of the national honorary fraternities here at Mary Washington College. It is one of the oldest organizations on the Hill, and has always been the embodiment of scholarship and cultural activity. The requirement for membership is a 2.25 average, which is equivalent to a B plus, for two consecutive semesters.

The new members are as follows: Barbara Jean Anspach, Eileen Armistead, Elizabeth Joy Baylor, Phyllis Elizabeth Bennington, Bernice Berkman, Shirley Jean Bowman, Loretta Jean Burnette, Adelaide McBride Campbell, Frances Jacqueline Carter, Mary Hill Chilton, Helen Elizabeth Coddington, Joan Marie Collins, Eleanor Enders Dickson, Mary Ann Teresa Dorsey, Joanne Lucille Gibson, Shirley Ann Gibson, Dorothy May Griffith, Patay Ann Haymes, Helen Katherine Hodges, Marilyn Sandra Kroll, Tina James Lampinakos, Diane Lee, Anne Snellen Levey, Nancy Wyatt McLeod, Dorothy Gaines Maynard, Harriet Valerie Maynard, Barbara Jane Miller, Judith Ann Morris, Ruth Hart Norwood, Carol Elizabeth Oliver, Virginia Mae Poole, Margaret Eugenia Rawls, Betty Anne Raynor, Mary Davidson Ribble, Nancy Lee Stockton, Ruth Ann Taylor, Jewel Whitaker Upshur, Elizabeth Pollard Weatherford, and Ruth Ethely Williams.

Choir

Nancy McLeod, last year's president of the Mary Washington Choir, has been elected president again this year. Winifred Hundeman is vice-president, Mary Landess, secretary, and Meechi Yokogawa, treasurer.

This year, the Choir will give its Christmas concert at the Fredericksburg Methodist Church. It will also carol at the Base Hospital at Quantico. Hampden-Sidney College will give a concert here in the spring and the Choir plans to exchange concerts with the Randolph-Macon Academy Choir.

It is warmer to wear two thin garments than one thick one because the air between them serves as insulation.

BSUings

On Thursday, November 1st, Miss Mary Julia Augenstein, representative of the Baptist Seminary in Louisville, Kentucky, will be at the Center all day for conferences and will speak at Inspirationalals that night. She is speaking for Y. W. C. A.; so gather up your friends and come over and hear her that night.

There's going to be a blessed event at the center the week of November 12. The Freshmen are taking over; so come on over and see how we think our children should behave.

The Statue of Liberty faces away from shore because she is supposed to be enlightening the world.

Announcements

Freshmen pictures for the Battlefield will be taken starting Monday at 9:30. Sign up for the time you wish yours taken on the schedules in front of the "C" Shoppe. The pictures will be taken in Practice Room 1, Westmoreland Basement. Freshmen will wear pastel sweaters and single strand pearls. A sitting fee of $1.50 is to be paid at the time the picture is taken.

MWC Bus trip is planned for Sunday, November 4th, to Charlottesville, Monticello, Ash Lawn, and Michie Tavern. Cost of $2.75 should be paid in G. W. 201.

MWC Bus will go to Charlottesville for the University of Virginia-North Carolina game November 10th. Round trip costs $2.50 and single tickets $3.00. $5.50 should be paid in G. W. 201.

Alpha Psi Omega is sponsoring a bus trip on Thursday November 15th to see "Kiss Me Kate" at the Mosque Theatre in Richmond.

Senator Benjamin T. Pitts, owner and general manager of a chain of motion picture theatres which includes those in Fredericksburg, has notified the Public Relations Director that he would like to have members of Cavalry his guests when the Fox Newsreel is shown locally. Members are to wear uniforms. Date of showing is not known yet.

Betty Anderson wins the free movie ticket.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

No. 25
HORSE

This little gee-gee was all at sea. It was enough to upset his equine-imity. He'd been reading about those rush-rush cigarette tests—the quick sniff, the fast puff. "Hardly the scientific approach," he said in his confusion. But then he realized that one test is an equine of a different pigmentation—a thorough, conclusive test of cigarette mildness.

It's the sensible test... the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke—on a day-after-day basis. No snap judgments! Once you've tried Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why...

Mystery of the Missing Mouse or Who Copped the Cap

CHAPTER V

(Synopsis of preceding chapters: After finding Elmira C. Levenworth's mouse cap near Custia, I, Shirley Locke Holmes, came to the conclusion that I must find her on the campus or else turn in my Junior G-Man badge to the Kellogg people.)

It was unfortunate that I chose to go to the "C" Shoppe on that particular night. I realize that the same people would probably be there but it seemed worse that night. In my low despondent mood, I was not prepared for Bettianne Norris, Betty Overby and Ruth Norwood. But then, who is? There I was, trapped like Jane Lloyd in a Physical Education class. I managed to compete conversationally with Betty and Ruth by forcibly submerging them in coffee cups but Bettianne was a different matter. She was doing her lines for "Light Up the Sky" (plug, Miss Newell, plug!) and nothing short of Lawrence Olivier could have stopped her. Not being Lawrence Olivier, I crept quietly away and pretended I had seen an old friend across the room. It was only Nell McCoy but I wasn't choosy. After I had eaten all of her Fritos and was dusting the crumbs away prior to departure, I saw Minnie Brands waving frantically from the potato chip stand.

Dear Mom . . .

Dear Mom:

Peanut week started last night—early this year. And midsemesters (ug!) are early this year too—I have two assigned already for next week. (and two regular tests for this week!) Needless to say, I just have to get down to studying—I don't know where all the free time available for studying goes—I just know that I'm way behind in practically everything somehow or other. Saturday night I spent my last fifty cents (a gentle hint) at R. A.'s Comic Carnival—it was lots of fun, but have you ever tried to study without food? I've heard it's possible to do so, but I don't really believe it. I must get to work.

Love,
Doter

Y's OWL SAYS

By Donna Gray

Last week was full of activities for Y. A special note of thanks goes to Lynne Gesford for the fine job she did on the candlelight recognition service. The words spoken at that service were a challenge to all to accept our responsibilities and work together harmoniously for our Y. W. C. A.

The night after the candlelight service we got together at Framar for our picnic. Wasn't that fun and didn't you enjoy the meal! Liz Bennington and her committee deserve the credit for preparing the food. I think they're really to be commended.

At dinner tonight one of Y's annual fun projects began. You received in a peanut shell the name of someone here at the college who will be your peanut for a few days. In turn someone will become your shell. You'll learn how much fun it is to have and be a good shell. Start immediately to take something to your peanut—any little thing: perhaps a stick of gum, a candy bar, cigarettes, or even just a note to let her know that her shell is right on the ball and thinking about her already. Be mighty careful to remain incognito, though, until Wednesday night when you give her the last, and nicest, remembrance; then deliver it in person and make yourself known. Mary Washington becomes a sly place during Peanut Week with secret messengers and lots of secrets. Be good to your peanut; don't neglect her at all! You'll find Peanut Week to be really great fun!

November 12 will be the date for the next Y Association Meeting. Keep that date open.

A friend of ours was turned down by the Air Corps—so he joined the Eagles.

Anna Scott Hoye To Install Physical Therapy Major Here

By PAT SWAIN

A native Virginian has come back to Mary Washington College this year to install the new Physical Therapy major. Her name is Anna Scott Hoye, known to her friends as "Scotty." She was born and reared in nearby Louisa County. Miss Hoye says, "My father was a minister and very much opposed to physical education. I guess that's why I went to Lynchburg College and majored in science." After she was graduated from college she taught school for a year in a three-room school in the country. She was principal because she has had four years of college and the other teachers had had only two.

After taking her Bachelor's Degree in biology, she attended the University of Wisconsin for her Masters Degree in physical education. Shortly after this, Mary Washington claimed her for a year before she entered the United States Army. While in the Army, she served as a physical training instructor. Upon coming out as a 2nd Lieutenant, she says, "Believe me, being a 2nd Lieutenant is lower than a buck private will ever be!"

It seems that Miss Hoye has been in school the better part of her life. Last year was spent at the Baruch Center of Physical Medicine in Richmond, Virginia. She has completed the work required for her Doctor's Degree except for writing her dissertation. This she expects to complete this year.

During her period of schooling and education, she has had two articles published in the Journal of Applied Physiology. The first in the September issue is entitled "Use of the Audio-Amplifier as a Means of Facilitating Work Output. Strength Development Through a Program of Progressive Resistance Exercise." The second, to be published in October issue is entitled, "The Influence of Autogenous Muscle Sound on Ergographic Work Capacity."

She hasn't had too much time for hobbies, but her one particular interest right now is "Cross-Rip", a cabin being built by herself, her sister and her many friends on a strip of land bordering the Pamunkey and Peanetank Rivers. It

Mike Club Station WMWC

By ANNE BARTON

Party! Party! The Mike club is having a party for all freshmen and transfers who are interested in radio. The Mike Club will have open house from 4:00 till 5:00 p.m. on Wednesday, October 31. We will give you a radio show of campus talent and explain how our campus station operates. Come up and see us on Wednesday afternoon at the Broadcasting Studio, third floor of G. W., Station WMWC.

On Thursday afternoon November 1, from four to five in the Student Activity Room, will be our first big meeting for old and new members. Here we will sign for our committees and classes. These classes are planned to help you acquaint yourself with the

Tennis Tournament In Third Round

The tennis tournament has thus far progressed into the third round, although all the sets in this round have not yet been played. The play-off was scheduled for last week end, but due to bad weather the tournament will not be played off until this week.

In the upperclassmen's tournament, the first round winners were Meechi Yokogawa, Shirley Sinnard, Peggy Davies, Pat Swain, Joan Kaitner, Barbara Mensch, Tola Dragaris, and Diana Buckwalter. Winners in the second round of the sets played were Meechi Yokogawa, Barbara Mensch, and Tola Dragaris. The only set which has been played in the third round was between Barbara Mensch and Tola Dragaris, with the score 6-2 in favor of Tola.

In the freshmen's tournament, the first round winners were Jane Fair, Kitty Wright, Mary Kay Kelly, Sue Kreeker, Frances Fontaine, Digna Caird, and Jackie Park. The only set which has been played in the second round was between Jackie Park and Digna Caird, with the score 6-1 in Jackie's favor.

MWC Hockey Team In Exhibition Game

Balls and sticks have been flying down on the hockey field for the past month as members of the hockey team worked toward the honor to be bestowed upon fifteen of them, when on Saturday, October 27, a field hockey team in the sky blue tunics from Mary Washington journeyed to St. Catherine's School in Richmond to participate in the Allied East Field Hockey Tournament. The girls, chosen for regular attendance at practice and interest in the game, as well as ability, went to Richmond in the college bus after classes on Saturday and returned Saturday night.

The Allied East Tournament in Richmond was more on the order of "play day" than that of a really competitive tournament, with the individual skills of the players of more importance than the winning team. A small tea was given after the tournament for the visiting teams.

Players Listed

Each year, the Virginia Field Hockey Association sponsors two tournaments for its Allied members, one in the East and one in the West. Since Mary Washington is an Allied member of the U. S. Field Hockey Association, the college team will participate in the Allied East Tournament with Randolph-Macon and the Norfolk Division of William and Mary. An Allied East team and an Allied West team are chosen each year. This year the chosen team played an exhibition game with the Richmond Club Team and on November 2 and 3 will go to the College of William and Mary in Williamsburg to participate in the Hockey Association Tournament.

Just think, movie stars are right here at M.W.C! Now there is no need to rush all of the way to Hollywood in order to speak to a movie actress. All that one has to do is say "Hi!" to a Cavalry girl. When 20th Century Fox came here to film Cavalry on last Tuesday and Wednesday they wanted to see it in action, and they surely did see action. The girls jumped horses in groups over fences, broke up a traffic jam in "down town" Fredericksburg with the aid of a walkie talkie, and even galloped across a field through red and purple smoke screens—all for the flicks." Shots were taken of the girls feeding and saddling the horses, doing calisthenics, executing difficult drill formations, and riding on horseback through campus. These pictures will probably be released in about 10 days. Even yet M.W.C. hasn't seen the last of

Pat Alexander Is Selected As Virginia Queen

Pat Alexander, a sophomore at Mary Washington from Fairfield, has been selected by the Woman's Auxiliary of the Virginia State Horticultural Society as Virginia Queen for National Apple Week from October 25 to November 3.

The celebration, sponsored by the Appalachian Apple Service promotional agency for apples produced in Virginia, Pennsylvania and Maryland, will include sending pretty queens from each state to various Eastern cities. Their mission will be to inform the public of the fine quality apples that are grown in the mountainous Appalachian area.

Pat attended Ward-Beumont Junior College in Nashville and spent the past summer on an educational tour of Europe. She recently visited Governor John S. Battle, presenting him with a gift of Virginia apples.

In addition to Pat and the three other state representatives, there will be Miss Apple Pan Dowdy whose name will be announced at the conclusion of a statewide contest being conducted in Pennsylvania to determine the Pennsylvania girl who best prepares the traditional Dutch dish of apple pan dowdy.

Professor Hilldrup Honored by Social Science Group

Dr. Robert Leroy Hilldrup was recently elected Lieutenant-Governor of the Province of Virginia of Pi Gamma Mu. Dr. Hilldrup received his A.B. at Southwestern University, his M.A. and Ph.D. at the University of Virginia, and has studied at the University of Chicago and Johns-Hopkins University. Dr. Hilldrup, who was very active in the formation of the Virginia Zeta Chapter on our campus, has been a member of the Mary Washington faculty since 1944 and is now a professor of history here.

MWC Is Subject of 3 Photographers

The Mary Washington College campus was a popular subject for photographers this past week. Mr. M. D. Cooke took several movies for Fox Movietone News which will appear in theaters and on television programs throughout the country in the near future.

Home Ec. Group Meets At MWC

On the college campus last Saturday, October 27, the Northern District of the Virginia Home Economics Association held its first fall meeting. Dr. Morgan L. Combs, President of the college, extended a welcome to the group, and at 2 P.M. Mr. Albert G. Moseley, Radiological Safety Director of the Veterans' Administration, addressed the group on "Biological Warfare."

Miss Jesse M. Hammerly, Chairman, of Fairfax, Virginia, conducted the Business Meeting which was held at 11:30 A.M. in the President's Conference Room. The year's program, which will follow the State of Virginia's program of work, is "How Home Economists Can Help Defense Needs in the State."

The group had luncheon in the Tapestry Room of the dining hall, where the tables were decorated in fall colors. The Mary Washington College home economics staff and the senior members of the Home Economics Club acted as hostesses.

Dispatch, visited here Friday with a photographer to write a feature story on Seacab Hall. Watch the BULLET for further announcements concerning the display of these pictures.

$100 Is Offered In Essay Contest

The Thomas Paine Foundation is offering a $100 United States Government savings bond for the best essay by a college student on "Thomas Paine and His Contribution to Human Freedom."

The essay must contain a minimum of 2000 words, and should be sent before January 1 to the Thomas Paine Foundation, 370 West 35th Street, New York 1, N. Y.

The announcement of the prize-winning essay will be made on January 15, and the student will be invited to read his paper at the annual Thomas Paine dinner meeting on January 29, 1952.

6th Anniversary U. N. Program Given In Chapel

The sixth anniversary of the founding of the United Nations was celebrated by a special assembly in chapel, Friday, presented by the Fredericksburg Rotary Club. Mr. Lynn Franklin, retired consul-general, read the President's proclamation of U. N. Week. A dramatization, "What Price Peace" stressed the importance of the

Formal Convo Is On Honor Code

The first formal convocation of the year on October 22, was given by the Honor Council with an address by Dr. Eileen Kramer Dodd, Professor of Psychology.

Dr. Dodd spoke of the meaning of honor in our individual lives, both before and after graduation from college. Dr. Dodd was introduced by President of the Honor Council, Janet Heilman. Other members of Honor Council present were Connie Bennett, president of the junior class, Anne Levey, the sophomore class president, and Millie Jones, vice-president of the senior class and freshman class representative.

Convocation was formal because of its pertinent theme, the Honor System at Mary Washington.

U. N. In addition to the local Rotarians who represented Formosa, United States, Turkey, India, and Egypt, faculty members participated. Dr. Brenner represented Russia; Dr. Bulley, England; Mr. Jones, the Philippines; Dr. Erdelyi, Lebanon; Dr. Josiah Combs, France; and Dr. Stansbury, the United Nations Secretary, Trygve Lie.
